Minnesota Real Estate Exchangers Code of Ethics

One of the fundamental objectives of the founders of the National Association of REALTORS® was to create a Code of Ethics which would be "...as the ten commandments to the real estate fraternity." And thus the Code was born in 1913 and it has served as a continuing quest for professionalism for REALTORS®, protecting the interests of their clients and safeguarding the rights of real estate consumers.

The 17 Articles of the Code establishes standards of conduct which a REALTOR® must satisfy. Although these Articles govern REALTOR® conduct in everyday business transactions and dealings, and REALTORS® can face substantial disciplinary action if they fail to observe the responsibilities, very few members don't fully understand what their ethical duties and obligations are. The following is a brief description of the obligations imposed by each of the Articles of the Code:

Article 1: Protect and promote your client's interests, but be honest with all parties.

Article 2: Avoid exaggeration, misrepresentation, and concealment of pertinent factors. Do not reveal facts that are confidential under the scope of your agency relationship.

Article 3: Cooperate with other brokers and agents to advance your client's best interests.

Article 4: Disclose in writing any direct or indirect ownership or interest you have in a property.

Article 5: Disclose present or contemplated interest in any property to all parties.

Article 6: Avoid side deals without the client's informed consent.

Article 7: Accept compensation from only one party except with full disclosure and informed consent.

Article 8: Keep the funds of clients and customers in escrow.

Article 9: Put all transactional details in writing and furnish a copy of each agreement to each party after their signing or initialing.

Article 10: Provide equal service to all clients and customers.

Article 11: Be knowledgeable and competent in the fields you practice. Obtain assistance or disclose lack of experience if necessary.

Article 12: Be truthful in all advertising: print, MLS data, internet, all media communications.

Article 13: Refrain from all activities that could be construed as the unauthorized practice of law.

Article 14: Be a willing participant in the enforcement of the Code.

Article 15: Avoid negative, on-constructive criticism about competitors.

Article 16: Do not interfere with an established agency relationship that other REALTORS® have with their clients.

Article 17: Arbitrate contractual and specific non-contractual disputes with other REALTORS® and with your clients.
